Couple feared riot amid Dubai floods

Monifieth pair trapped in airport as rain hit holiday plans

BY KIERAN WEBSTER

A Monifieth couple say their holiday almost turned into a “riot” after flooding in Dubai left them stranded in an airport.

Margaret and Derek McArthur, pictured, were heading to Tokyo for a cruise last month, spending two nights in Dubai to break up their journey. However, just as they were about to leave for Japan, the Emirati city was hit by torrential rain, which created flooding and brought everything to a standstill, including flights.

At the airport, the situation deteriorated as passengers tried to get information and food and drink.

Margaret said: “Upstairs, where we eventually went for something to eat after 13 hours, was a disaster area.

“There were people on the floor, there was not enough seating and children were upset. There were no Emirates staff at all, only two people sat at a desk.”

Margaret says it took a “near riot” for staff to open duty-free allowing passengers to buy snacks.

Review of parole after killer freed

Scottish justice agencies looking into how system functions

BY SEAN O'NEIL

A review of the parole process in Scotland is under way amid the controversial releasing of Angus killer Tasmin Glass halfway through her sentence.

The Scottish Government, Parole Scotland and other justice agencies are looking at how the parole system functions as Tayside reels from the early release. It comes after the Parole Board for Scotland raised questions about its own governance in a yearly report.

The report said: "Relations with Scottish Ministers are regulated by a Memorandum of Understanding which includes reference to governance processes.

"There is, however, no statutory basis for governance arrangements.

"This issue has been recognised by Scottish Ministers and there is provision in the Management of Offenders (Scotland) Act 2019 for Scottish Ministers to make regulations in this respect."

The Courier's A Voice for Victims campaign has been calling for reform within the Scottish parole system since February.
